The Building Code Tutor is a web-based instructional program, developed by Muniak Enterprises Inc. that provides practical and interactive training in the fire and life safety requirements of Part 3 of the building codes used across Canada.

The Building Code Tutor consists of a series of short, on-line, interactive lessons that can be watched at any time, anywhere. Each of the lessons focuses on a specific aspect of the building code and allows learning through modular, visual, text and audio media in which the participant controls the pace.

When completed, the Building Code Tutor interactive program provides documentation that can be submitted to obtain structured learning credits.
