HIGHER TALENT. HIRE CONESTOGA.

Bachelor of Interior Design (Honours)

This unique four-year honours-level program is accredited by the Council of Interior Design Accreditation (CIDA) and is recognized by the Association of Registered Interior Designers of Ontario (ARIDO).

The program provides professional training in the design development and presentation of interior spaces – including residential, corporate/commercial, retail, institutional, healthcare, hospitality/entertainment and exposition – through project-based learning.

Students study in detail the range of functional and aesthetic components that allow spaces in the built environment to be safely and comfortably inhabited. The relationship of occupants and their physical environment is analyzed through the consideration of ergonomics, illumination, acoustics, finishes, safety, and all aspects of space programming.
